

Sounds of the Hellenic world, ancient & modern

An afternoon and evening celebrating the musical traditions of Greece, followed by a morning workshop on music and the current crisis in Greece

Monday 4 – Tuesday 5 July 2016
Great Hall, Strand Campus,
King's College London
WC2R 2LS

Monday 4 July 2016

13.00-17.30, afternoon session including Alicia (AE) Stallings: Keynote talk and reading of poetry

18.30-20.30, evening concert
The Sokratis Sinopoulos Quartet:
'Eight winds'

Tuesday 5 July 2016

9.00-13.00, morning session on music and language in time of crisis

For details and booking visit tinyurl.com/soundshellenic

Organized by the Centre for Hellenic Studies, Department of Classics and Department of Music, King's College London

Image: detail from Nikos Engonopoulos (1907-1989):
'Odysseus narrates to Homer'. Oil painting, 0.92 x 0.73 m, reproduced by courtesy of the National Bank of Greece